

There's that sitcom that always made you laugh.

That song that never fails to make you get up and dance,

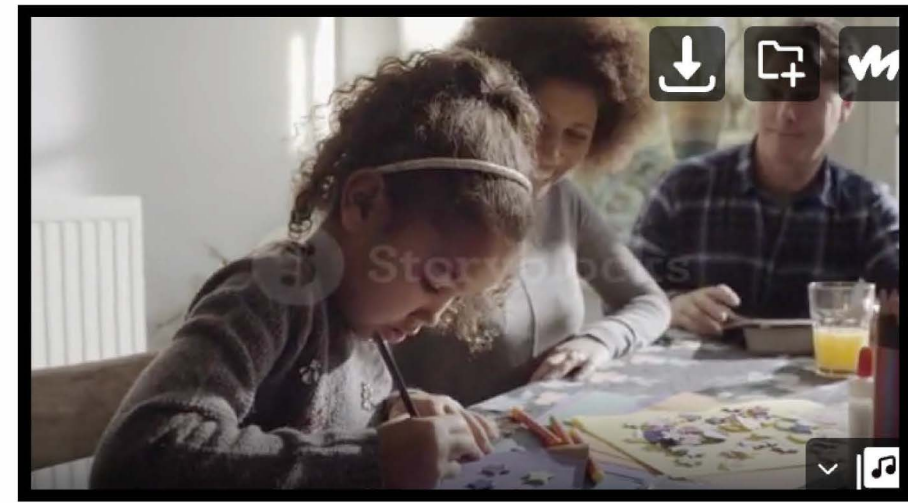

or sing at the top of your lungs.

The story that helped you understand how someone else felt,

and the performance that made you feel understood.

Where would we be without the arts?

Where would we be without the voices,

the visions,

the revelations of black creators?

James Baldwin said "Life is more important than art,

..that's what makes art important."

And through art we share,

express,

and decorate our lives.

This Black History Month we celebrate the arts,

and all the richness,

understanding, and joy

that black creators have added to our lives.

Join Black at Kenvue
*animation direction, black section of flag expands out diagonally from center to black screen for CTA

in celebrating Black History Month.

Join Black at Kenvue

in celebrating Black History Month.

*animation direction, logo shrinks down and moves up to accomodate Celebrates Black History Month text, each word animates on as it's said

Join Black at Kenvue

*animation direction, black section of flag expands out diagonally from center to black screen for CTA

in celebrating Black History Month.

*animation direction each word animates on as it's said